The hunters are earning their deer this season.

The Little Red Hen is crowned queen of November.

Those interrupted football schedules can be resumed in December.

It was nearly "Deutschland unter alles," with the tug directly on top.

The New England fruit show has brought the Vermont apple into its own.

The candidates for chaplain of the Vermont House are springing up. Which one can pray the most in the least time?

The more zero weather we get this late summer, the less we'll get early next summer—at least if nature strikes the proper balance.

When defeated, the Germans retire to a place previously prepared for them, as the Berlin official statements have it. Letting them down easy, as it were.

The prospect of a great railroad strike, of shoe leather going to $30 a pair and of gasoline sticking round the 25-per gallon mark is not very alluring to those who wish to move about.

The Teutons perhaps consider it a military necessity to send their airplanes over Bucharest to drop bombs on the civilian population of the Rumanian capital; but the verdict of history will be to the contrary.

Although there has been a hunting victim in Vermont already during the open season for deer, there is some satisfaction in the thought that the victim was not mistaken for a deer by another careless hunter.

President Wilson has given a recess appointment to the department of commerce to Edward Sweet, who resigned in order to run for governor of Michigan and who was defeated this month. Then there's Hughes—Charles Evans Hughes, Mr. President.

In July the National Guardsmen on the Mexican border were writing about the terrific heat: now those still left there are describing the terrific cold—and some of them are deserting. They are experiencing some of the hardships which the soldiers of the great war pass through.

If a woman who holds a postoffice appointment is content to be called postmaster, the designation which the government gives, then the woman elected to Congress ought to be satisfied with the designation of congressman. Miss Rankin from Montana is Congressman Rankin, or will be when she takes her seat in the House.

If there were any lingering infantile paralysis germs in Vermont they should have been rendered hors de combat by reason of the heavy blow of Jack Frost. It is to be noted, however, that cases continue to break out in Massachusetts, albeit the number is very small as compared with the total during the warmer months.

The cold wave is said to have damaged the Oregon apple crop to the extent of $1,500,000. This means that the Oregon orchardists are not accustomed to pick their apples before the middle of November, for the cold wave struck that section about that time. Vermont apple growers have their product all picked and, generally, on the way to the market before that time.

The selection of Sherman R. Moulton of Burlington to be reporter of decisions for the Vermont supreme court seems to meet with quite general approval throughout the state. Mr. Moulton has been practicing law for 15 years, following his graduation from the law department of Harvard university, and he is executive clerk for Governor Gates. Mr. Moulton succeeded John Redmond of Newport, who has held the position for a dozen years and who now retires to devote more of his time to his private law practice. If he measures up to the standard set by Mr. Redmond, the newcomer will meet the requirements.

We trust that the story of the Deutschland's mishap while trying to leave New London will not be magnified by the German newspapers into an attempt by the tug to sink the submarine. On another occasion recently the German excitable press had the story that American ships tried to ram the U-53 when she was passing along the coast in her westward trip. The mishap to the Deutschland might easily be distorted into a story of an attempt to destroy the commerce-carrying vessel, providing the German agents in the United States do not take the trouble to set right the Germans at home. In the United States it is well known that the accident was a mere chance.

ADDING MACHINE GUN EQUIPMENT

The formation of a machine gun company at St. Albans, to be part of the Vermont National Guard, is a step forward in the strengthening of the military arm of the state. The machine gun plays a most important part in modern warfare. In fact, it is one of the most efficacious instruments to withstand attack ever invented, as has been shown repeatedly during the great conflict across the water. The trenches everywhere are equipped with machine guns; and the army that is deficient in machine guns is generally the loser in the battle. The United States military department was weak in this equipment at the outbreak of the Mexican embroglio, as it also was weak in its air service. Since then, however, efforts have been directed toward bridging the machine gun part of the service at least up to the average of the main department. Vermont, too, was very much behind some of the neighboring states in equipment of this sort. Therefore, it will be encouraging to those who seek the improvement of the state's military arm that this company at St. Albans has been formed. There might well be other machine gun companies throughout the state.

Supreme Court Adjourned November Term Yesterday Afternoon.

Supreme court adjourned yesterday afternoon after being in session for the November term since Wednesday, Nov. 8. About a score of cases were argued or submitted on briefs, the rest on the trial calendar being continued until the January term. Justice Seneca Haselton returned to his home in Burlington last evening and Chief Justice Loveland Munson left for Manchester this forenoon.

In probate court yesterday afternoon, Arthur W. Locklin of Northfield, who was arrested several weeks ago on a charge of larceny from his father's estate, settled his account as administrator of the estate. Leroy A. Eastman of Northfield Falls has been appointed administrator in his place. The charge of larceny against Locklin may be not pressed because he and his mother are heirs of the estate.

Only ten tickets were sold at the local Central Vermont station for the Montreal excursion this forenoon, but it is expected others will leave on the afternoon trains. Among those who went this forenoon were R. T. Ledden, Dennis Hennessy and Cecil Egg. Mr. Egg will visit his brother and will be the organist Sunday in the Episcopal church.

Lieut. Gov. Elect Roger W. Hubbard of Hyde Park was a visitor in the city to-day and Gov. Elect H. F. Gaham left on the same train with E. E. Joslyn of the auditing department for Burlington.

S. A. Dole of the high school faculty left this forenoon for Boston and Amherst, Mass., to spend a few days with relatives.

The chancery case of C. S. Whittier vs. Montpelier Ice company and G. W. Parmenter, which was heard a year ago, taken to supreme court and decree of reverse and cause remanded, was taken up yesterday afternoon before Chancery, Frank L. Fish. The case is the result of a dispute about the ownership of land bordering the North branch river where ice is cut annually. The parties interested and the chancellor visited the premises yesterday.

Local football fans have not yet abandoned the hope that the Montpelier high-Rutland high game will be played this season and they may be rewarded if the snow vanishes before Thanksgiving. Tomorrow a number of local enthusiasts are planning a trip to Burlington to witness the Vermont-Middlebury game.

Editor Frank E. Howe of the Bennington Banner returned to-day to his home after spending a day in the city on business.

Hubert Forgue, a student at Mt. Hermon school, Northfield, Mass., has arrived home because of illness, but plans to return as soon as he recovers his health.

Miss Doris Farrar of Wakefield, Mass., is visiting in the city with Mr. and Mrs. Waldo H. Farrar of College street for a week.

Lynn S. Hays of Burlington, who has been in the city for several weeks during the political campaign and the fruit show, left this afternoon for Boston on a business trip.

MACHINE GUN COMPANY.

Has Been Formed at St. Albans for the National Guard.

St. Albans, Nov. 17.—The organization of a machine gun company, to be a part of the First regiment, Vermont National Guard, has been begun in this city, and the work of enlistment has been started, with Captain Charles E. Pell as recruiting officer. The recruiting up to authorized strength of 53 men and four commissioned officers will continue at the armory every evening for an indefinite period of time. As soon as the company is fully organized some suitable place will be rented as headquarters and for the storing of equipment, but drills will be conducted in the armory.

Captain Pell will remain in command of Co. B, his connection with the machine gun company being only that of recruiting officer.

HUNTER'S WOUND FATAL.

Basil Piper Died Through His Own Carelessness.

Middlebury, Nov. 17.—Basil Piper, who was shot by his own gun when he stumbled in the mountains about 12 miles from here early Wednesday morning while out with three of his fellow sportsmen on a deer hunting trip, died yesterday at the home of Daniel Dragon, where he was taken by his companions after the accident. He was 17 years old. It is said that the young man was very ugly one, the charge having entered the body just below the left lung, coming out through the shoulder.

He is survived by his parents, two brothers, Chester and George Piper, and three sisters, the Misses Gladys, Edna and Meriel Piper, all of East Middlebury. The funeral will be held at the Methodist church at East Middlebury Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The remains were brought to his home in East Middlebury this morning.

What makes Harry Lauder so jolly? I suppose it's the Scotch in him.—Tex. Cavete.

A MODERN COAL RANGE + A MODERN GAS RANGE + ADDED COMFORT = ECONOMY + CONVENIENCE = ALL IN ONE

THE NEED OF THE HOUR

If a Round-Oak 3-Fuel Combination Range cost you as much as the two good complete ranges it represents, it would still be a good investment—but it doesn't! It actually costs less. Not because of any less cooking facilities, but because of the manufacturer's inventive genius in providing them in more compact form—in eliminating unnecessary material and labor. The cost is but little more than for a good coal range—and actually no more than for the average coal range with a small gas attachment. Why postpone the investment in a necessity that pays such handsome dividends in added convenience, comfort, and economy? Why not see this unique range to-day?

The Lady Demonstrator from the Round Oak Factory invites the opportunity of showing you

1. Why this range warms the kitchen in winter.
2. Why the kitchen is cool and cheery in summer.
3. Why it burns all fuels successfully.
4. Why we believe, you should have one now this fall.

Why These Inducements Are Offered this Week

Realizing that no other article for the home is sold quite so much on the recommendation of satisfied users, arrangements have been made to give without charge—absolutely FREE—the ten-piece set of white enamel cooking utensils, shown in illustration—to those who decide during the demonstration. This set retails for at least $6.50, and is offered for the sole purpose of getting a number of ranges in use quickly. Parties selecting ranges to be delivered later will also be given every advantage of this special offer.

SERENADED WILSON.

10,000 Marchers Went Past White House Last Night.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 17.—The people of Washington and of nearby sections of Maryland and Virginia gave President Wilson an enthusiastic homecoming celebration last night in honor of his re-election. More than 10,000 strong they marched from the Capitol to the White House to the music of many bands and waving red lights while vari-colored bombs burst overhead. When they had passed a chorus of 300 voices serenaded the president with "The Star Spangled Banner," "Dixie" and other patriotic melodies.

The celebration was participated in by both men and women—members of Democratic organizations, government clerks, suffragists, representatives of union labor and citizens generally.

The president with Mrs. Wilson and a party of relatives viewed the procession from the northern portion of the White House. The first section, with a band, marched into the White House grounds and stopped while the president shook hands with the grand marshal and the president of the district Wilson and Marshall Democratic association and thanked them for the welcome.

From a reviewing stand outside the White House grounds, Secretaries Lansing, Baker and other ranking government officials and municipal officers watched the parade.

In the parade, headed by an old soldier dressed as Uncle Sam, were several floats, several hundred automobiles and delegation after delegation of marchers. Leading those on foot was Secretary Tamm. A group of suffragists carried a banner bearing the words: "We did it."

In Recognition of Loyal Men.

This note is fairly because of my absence in New York since the day of election; but I want to express my appreciation of the good will which led so large a number of able citizens without regard to party to seek my election to the Senate. That the effort was unavailing in no way lessens its kindness, or my wish to become worthy of such confidence.
